Introduction

As we all know that model making has been vital in constructing architectural marvels such as the Church Of The Light by Tadao Ando.

Model making is one of the most important skills to be learned by students. Models can be used as the basis for conceptualizing, communicating, assessing, and realizing design intentions.

Advancements in technology have provided model makers with effective tools and techniques to be able to craft their imagination and help the clients to visualize the look and feel of the design. Explorative models, along with drawings of the building, can be used as a method of refining judgments, decision-making, or conveying information i.e., factors that are at the very core of the architectural design.

Challenge

Many people believe that 3d Visualization has taken over the field of architecture with architectural models becoming an obsolete art.

This competition therefore is designed in a way that it promotes Unique and Interesting ideas a designer can take to build a model.

Share your experience with architectural models, it can be a Handmade Model, Machine Made Model, Digital Model either when presenting to clients or brainstorming designs for pitches or architecture competitions.
